

A Synthetic Manuscript for Reference-Extraction Benchmarking

Synthetic Author

2026

Abstract

This synthetic manuscript exists only to exercise the reference-extraction pipeline against a document with realistic structure and an exactly known bibliography, generated from the entries in `entries.py`.

1 Introduction

The question taken up here has been approached from several directions, and the paragraphs below trace the line of work this manuscript builds on rather than restating each contribution in full. A closely comparable argument is developed by Foucault (1977). This reading sits comfortably beside the surrounding literature (Kuhn 1962). The argument is put most directly in a single passage (Said 1978, p. 14). The finding has since been replicated more than once (Barth 1956; Gadamer 1975). This reading sits comfortably beside the surrounding literature (Arendt 1958). The argument is put most directly in a single passage (Derrida 1976, p. 14). The finding has since been replicated more than once (Eliade 1959; Ricoeur 1969).

2 Method

The procedure follows established practice at every step, so what matters in this section is which earlier report each decision was taken from. Earlier evidence points in this direction as well (Bloom 1973). The relevant table is reproduced there (Augustine 1961, p. 87). Two independent reports agree on this point (Nietzsche 1967; Heidegger 1962). Earlier evidence points in this direction as well (Habermas 1984). The relevant table is reproduced there (Bultmann 1958, p. 87).

3 Results

The pattern observed in these data is reported first and then placed against the findings it is meant to be read alongside. The finding has since been replicated more than once (Tillich 1951; Niebuhr 1932). This reading sits comfortably beside the surrounding literature (Buber 1970). The argument is put most directly in a single passage (Levinas 1969, p. 14). The finding has since been replicated more than once (Ricoeur 1970; White 1973). This reading sits comfortably beside the surrounding literature (Benjamin 1968). The argument is put most directly in a single passage (Adorno and Horkheimer 2002, p. 14).

4 Discussion

What remains is to say which of the earlier claims the present data support and which of them they leave open. The finding has since been replicated more than once (Butler 1990; Beauvoir 2011). This reading sits comfortably beside the surrounding literature (Barthes 1977). The argument is put most directly in a single passage (Eco 1989, p. 14). The finding has since been replicated more than once (Otto 1958; Schleiermacher 1988). This reading sits comfortably beside the surrounding literature (Aquinas 1981).

References

- Adorno, Theodor W., and Max Horkheimer. 2002. Dialectic of Enlightenment: Philosophical Fragments. Original work published 1944. Stanford, CA: Stanford University Press.
- Aquinas, Thomas. 1981. Summa Theologica. Written c. 1265-1274. Westminster, MD: Christian Classics.
- Arendt, Hannah. 1958. The Human Condition. Chicago, IL: University of Chicago Press.
- Augustine. 1961. Confessions. Written c. 397-400. London: Penguin Classics.
- Barth, Karl. 1956. Church Dogmatics, Volume IV.1: The Doctrine of Reconciliation. Edinburgh: T&T Clark.
- Barthes, Roland. 1977. "The death of the author." In Image-Music-Text. Original essay published 1967. London: Fontana Press.
- Beauvoir, Simone de. 2011. The Second Sex. Original work published 1949. New York, NY: Vintage Books.
- Benjamin, Walter. 1968. "The work of art in the age of mechanical reproduction." In Illuminations. Original work published 1936. New York, NY: Schocken Books.
- Bloom, Harold. 1973. The Anxiety of Influence: A Theory of Poetry. New York, NY: Oxford University Press.
- Buber, Martin. 1970. I and Thou. Original work published 1923. New York, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons.

- Bultmann, Rudolf. 1958. Jesus Christ and Mythology. New York, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons.
- Butler, Judith. 1990. Gender Trouble: Feminism and the Subversion of Identity. New York, NY: Routledge.
- Derrida, Jacques. 1976. Of Grammatology. Baltimore, MD: Johns Hopkins University Press.
- Eco, Umberto. 1989. The Open Work. Original work published 1962. Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press.
- Eliade, Mircea. 1959. The Sacred and the Profane: The Nature of Religion. New York, NY: Harcourt, Brace & World.
- Foucault, Michel. 1977. Discipline and Punish: The Birth of the Prison. New York, NY: Vintage Books.
- Gadamer, Hans-Georg. 1975. Truth and Method. London: Continuum.
- Habermas, Jürgen. 1984. The Theory of Communicative Action, Volume 1: Reason and the Rationalization of Society. Original work published 1981. Boston, MA: Beacon Press.
- Heidegger, Martin. 1962. Being and Time. Original work published 1927. New York, NY: Harper & Row.
- Kuhn, Thomas S. 1962. The Structure of Scientific Revolutions. Chicago, IL: University of Chicago Press.
- Levinas, Emmanuel. 1969. Totality and Infinity: An Essay on Exteriority. Original work published 1961. Pittsburgh, PA: Duquesne University Press.
- Niebuhr, Reinhold. 1932. Moral Man and Immoral Society: A Study in Ethics and Politics. New York, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons.
- Nietzsche, Friedrich. 1967. On the Genealogy of Morals. Original work published 1887. New York, NY: Vintage Books.
- Otto, Rudolf. 1958. The Idea of the Holy. Original work published 1917. New York, NY: Oxford University Press.
- Ricoeur, Paul. 1969. The Symbolism of Evil. Boston, MA: Beacon Press.
- . 1970. Freud and Philosophy: An Essay on Interpretation. Original work published 1965. New Haven, CT: Yale University Press.
- Said, Edward W. 1978. Orientalism. New York, NY: Pantheon Books.
- Schleiermacher, Friedrich. 1988. On Religion: Speeches to Its Cultured Despisers. Original work published 1799. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
- Tillich, Paul. 1951. Systematic Theology, Volume 1. Chicago, IL: University of Chicago Press.

White, Hayden. 1973. Metahistory: The Historical Imagination in Nineteenth-Century Europe. Baltimore, MD: Johns Hopkins University Press.